HITLER PLANS TO ATTACK U.S., SENATOR SAYS

"My Firm Belief," Sheppard Declares; Conscription Bill Sent to Floor.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Senator Sheppard (D-Tex.) told the senate today that it was his "firm belief that Hitler intended to attack the United States.

He said after the military committee, of which he is chairman, voted 12 to 3 to send to the senate floor the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training bill requiring the registration of approximately 12,000,000 men between the ages of 21 to 30 inclusive.

"Does the senator think," Senator Murray (D-Mont.) demanded, "that Hitler will attack the United States?"

"He will try to attack the United States," Sheppard replied. "That is my firm belief and if I wasn't I wouldn't be here trying to get the senate to approve this legislation."

Wheeler contended that most of the "emergency" had been manufactured by propagandists" who, he said, wanted to scare the senate and the people of the country into giving dictatorial powers to someone.

"The only emergency I can see is that the election is coming up," Wheeler declared.

Committee approval cleared the way for senate consideration this week of the conscription measure, which bore the personal indorsement of Secretary of War Stimson and was recorded by the budget bureau as being in accordance with President Roosevelt's program.

The committee rejected, 7 to 4, a proposal sponsored by the war department that divinity students be exempted from compulsory service. It also turned down, 10 to 4, on a show of hands, a proposal by Senator Johnson that Harry Woodring, former secretary of war who has opposed immediate conscription, be called to testify.

Committee members said that there was discussion, but no action, on a proposal by Senator Lee (D-Okla.), that the basic pay of the army and conscripts who might be called into service be increased from $21 to $30 a month.

Considerable opposition to the bill was foreshadowed in the senate, despite the fact that only three votes were recorded against it in committee.

Machinery for registration could be set in motion if and when the bill becomes law, but President Roosevelt could not order any draftees into service before congress appropriated money for their training.

400,000 by October

Army officials have said they hoped to call 400,000 men for service by October, if the bill is enacted.

The bill contained a provision permitting men from 18 to 34, inclusive, to enlist voluntarily in the army for one-year training as an alternative to conscription.

The committee acted shortly before the senate began work on a related issue — presidential authority to call the national guard into active training.

The two measures were closely interlocked in the controversy over munitions which had spread over capitol hill during the last month. Opponents of conscription talked of trying to amend the national guard bill to provide a system of voluntary one-year enlistments in the army. This, they contended, would be an effective

Murder Charge To Be Filed In Patrolman's Death at Galion

John E. Smith in Jail at Bucyrus Pending Prosecutor's Action.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug. 5 — Murder charges will be filed late today or Tuesday against John E. Smith, 26, Galion factory worker and truck driver, who has been held here in Crawford county jail since Saturday noon when he allegedly struck Clarence H. Upson, veteran Galion patrolman, causing injuries which led to the officer's death, County Prosecuting Attorney Leo J. Scanlon said today.

The prisoner related details of the incident, admitting that he struck Upson after the officer threatened to arrest him in an effort to dissuade him from driving his automobile, Prosecutor Scanlon reported. Smith gave a complete account of the incident but denied reports that he had been drinking. He was questioned during his removal to the county jail, and yesterday made a complete statement.

Gives Statement

He expressed remorse and tearfully exclaimed, "I'm sorry about what happened," and "I didn't mean to do that," the prosecutor said. Sheriff Albert French, who with the prosecutor removed Smith to the county jail, assisted with the early questioning and in taking the prisoner's statement yesterday. The officials reported they hope to complete their investigation today after talking with an eye-witness. They have already questioned more than 15 people who saw or heard parts of the argument and indicated that more than 50 others probably saw part of the incident.

Patrolman Upson had just gone on duty directing traffic at South street and Harding Way East in Galion before he was fatally hurt. Witnesses said it appeared that Smith had been drinking and that he was getting into his automobile to drive away when the officer approached. The argument began and Smith was ordered to get out of his car. He got out and walked over to the curb with Upson, where after a brief conversation he allegedly struck the officer.

Arrested After Assault

Upson fell backward to the pavement and then collapsed face downward when he made an attempt to rise. Daniel Barrett, Polk township constable, who was standing at a nearby service station and saw the officer fall took Smith into custody. He submitted to arrest peacefully and offered "no resistance," Constable Barrett reported. County officials were called immediately and Smith was removed a short time later to the county jail.

Officials denied that any

Patrolman's Attacker Arrested Here Twice

Marion police recalled today that John Edwin Smith, held in connection with the death of Patrolman Charles H. Upson at Galion, was arrested here on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct March 9 following an altercation on West Center street. He pleaded guilty to the charge before Municipal Judge Hazen and was fined $25 and costs.

Court records show that Smith also was arrested here two years ago on an intoxication charge and was fined $10 and costs.

2 Parking Meters Disabled Short Time by Vandals

Two of the city's 103 new parking meters were put out of commission temporarily over the week-end by vandals, Safety-Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell reported today.

Slots in the two meters were filled with matches, apparently by youthful "pranksters." They were repaired by members of the service department staff.

Police reported there were few cases of motorists failing to pay for the parking spaces over the week-end despite the city's policy of being lenient to drivers until they become accustomed to using the meters. However, officers issued several "courtesy" traffic tags, reminding motorists that they had violated a city ordinance by failing to insert coins in the meters.

Starting Wednesday the "courtesy" tag policy will end and police will make frequent checkups of the parking meter area, issuing regulation traffic tags to violators, Mr. Caldwell has announced.

The meters are not used on Sundays or national holidays.

LEADERS VOICE DEFENSE VIEWS

Pershing Urges Aid to Britain; Lindbergh Backs Non-Interference.

By The Associated Press

Arguments over conscription and aid to Great Britain underlay a wide variety of appeals for American defense heard across the continent Sunday.

Gen. John J. Pershing, speaking from Washington, proposed to a radio audience that the United States make available at least 50 World war destroyers to help England.

"If the destroyers help save the British fleet," he said, "they may save us from the danger and hardship of another war."

"If there is anything we can do to help save the British fleet during that time, we shall be failing in our duty to America if we do not do it."

Sees "Grave Danger"

The general of the armies said he saw "grave danger" for the United States in the present world situation, and blamed disasters in seven of eight nations on "appeasers who would not take the danger seriously, who would not prepare while there was still time."

In Chicago, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh spoke at a peace rally, where he called for American cooperation with Europe, advocating at the same time non-interference in Europe's internal affairs.

"Whether England or Germany wins this war," he said, "western civilization will still depend upon two great centers, one in each hemisphere. With all the aids of modern science, neither of these centers is in a position to attack the other successfully as long as the defenses of both are reasonably strong."

America should rearm "fully" for its defense, Lindbergh said, and should "never make the type of treaty that would lay us open to invasion if it were broken.

"But if we refuse to consider treaties with the dominant nation of Europe, regardless of who that may be, we remove all possibility of peace. Nothing is to be gained by shouting names and pointing the finger of blame across the ocean. • • •"

Knox Urges Haste

Secretary Knox of the navy headed a radio symposium for conscription arranged by the Military Training Camps association. He said:

"In the past we have resorted to compulsory service whenever the nation was threatened. Today we cannot wait until war is upon us. It will be too late."

Assistant Secretary Patterson of the war department called for an

TIME AND TIDE FAVORABLE FOR NAZI INVASION

Increased German Activity at Channel Ports Reported by British.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 5 — Increasing Nazi activity at French channel ports, reported by British bombers returning from raids deep into Germany, kept England on the alert today as tides and weather combined to offer Adolf Hitler more favorable conditions for his long-promised Blitzkrieg.

Authoritative sources indicated the royal air force, attempting to smash any invasion before it could be launched, was hurling more and more planes into nightly attacks on German industrial centers, troop concentrations and channel bases.

The air ministry reported, meanwhile, three Messerschmitt fighters were shot down this morning as Spitfire pilots continued to carry the war into the Nazi camp.

The British reported the loss of one plane.

Some 20 German planes were engaged in the scrap on this side of the channel, in which one Nazi craft was downed. The British pilots said that within four minutes they had cleared the skies of Germans.

"Germany is out for a bigger headache than she has yet suffered," one spokesman predicted grimly.

Replace Officers

The government, meanwhile, moved to strengthen Britain's defenses by placing the home guard —now 1,500,000 strong — under new leadership, replacing with younger officers a handful of elderly generals whose ideas of war were described as "highly antiquated."

At the same time the civilian population surrendered its traditional August bank holiday to speed the work of producing munitions and vital war supplies.

German bombers kept up their scattered attacks on England with a series of raids during the night which, the government said, resulted in the death of one person, a few other casualties, and "negligible" damage.

Thousands of green and yellow leaflets containing extracts of Adolf Hitler's peace offer speech to the reichstag were dropped in a northeast England town and in sections of southeast England last night.

High explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped in isolated districts in the midlands and eastern England, a communique said.

Saturday night and Sunday morning German raiders bombed the Thames, Estuary, Wales and eastern Scotland, but no casualties were reported.

(A German communique said attacks had been carried out to Swansea, Wales, and on an oil harbor near Liverpool, where large fires were started.)

Will Come Soon

Military observers expressed belief that if Hitler intends to launch an attack this month it probably will come in the five days—beginning today—when the high August tides are at their peak.

It was expected that these tides, most favorable for seaborne attack, would be accompanied by calm seas and channel fog.

Queen Elizabeth observed her 40th birthday yesterday, spending a quiet day in the country with King George and Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose. The bells of St. George's chapel at Windsor castle, which for centuries have rung in honor of royal birthdays, remained silent—stilled by an order that church bells may be rung only to warn of invasion.

BUS STATION MOVES TO NORTH STATE ST.

Occupies New Quarters in Kumfort Hotel Building.

The Union Bus station yesterday was moved from 132 East Center street to its new location in the Kumfort Hotel building at 140 North State street.

The new rooms were recently remodeled and redecorated for the station which serves as the Marion terminal for Greyhound Lines, the Marion-Mansfield line and the Columbus-Marysville Transportation Co. which operates a line between Marion and Springfield.

The General Sales firm which previously occupied the North State street rooms has moved to 191 East Center street in rooms formerly occupied by the Eastway restaurant.

Marion Shop Employment At Peak for 15 Months

C. of C. Bulletin Lists 4,452 at Work in Nine Factories, One Per Cent Gain Over June.

Marion factory employment in July reached the highest level in the 15 months that records have been kept for the city's nine largest plants, the July business statistics bulletin of the Chamber of Commerce shows. The bulletins were distributed today.

The report shows 4,452 persons were employed in the nine factories last month, 92½ per cent of normal. This represented a gain of one per cent over June and 12½ per cent ahead of May. When the monthly totals on employment were begun in May of 1939, the total was less than 3,700.

Along with the factory employment increase came a drop of 108 in the ranks of WPA workers in the county, from 666 to 558. Also, the number of relief cases dropped from 472 to 359, a decrease of 113.

Other Statistics

Other business statistics included in the report show:

Bank clearings for July totaled $1,142,736.43, an increase over June when the total was $1,115,-363.34.

Postal receipts amounted to $11,876.55 as compared with $12,-317.49 for June.

Building permits, 40 amounting to $19,725 as compared with 31 amounting to $98,092 in June.

New automobile sales in county totaled 103 as compared with 144 in June, new truck sales were 14 as compared with 12 in June and used car sales totaled 313 as compared with 294 for June.

Gas meters in July numbered 8,928, an increase of three over June.

Electric meters numbered 9,649, a decrease of nine from June.

Along with the business statistics bulletin, the Chamber today mailed details of the proposed sewer rental fee for Marion, now pending before council and has asked members to express their opinion regarding the proposal. The taxation committee has made a study of the proposal and has reported its findings as follows:

"The sewage treatment works and the sewer system are badly in need of repairs. Sewerage and sewerage gases have eaten away concrete tanks and steel pipes which must be replaced.

"The city is appropriating $14,-000 annually from its general fund for the operation of the plant. This money would remain in the general fund and could be used for many purposes, one of which is the replacement of the antiquated fire equipment."

Railroad Expansion

The bulletin comments about the preparations railroads are making to meet transportation demands of the preparedness program, quoting J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, as saying that there are approximately 36,000 more serviceable freight cars than there were at the peak of business in October of 1930 and that there will be an increase of 148,000 over the 1939 figure by next October. "This program should reflect increased employment in industries and railroad shops in Marion," Chamber Secretary Louis E. Michel points out in the bulletin.

Recent installation of a new reflector type crossing sign at the Bellefontaine avenue crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad is reported.

Newcomers to Marion in July are listed as follows: O. M. Broome, manager, Merit Shoe Co.; D. C. Sidle, manager, McCormick-Deering store; John Geiger, proprietor, Kumfort Hotel; J. A. Riffle; branch manager, and Edward Alexander superintendent, both with Colonial Poultry Farms, Inc., now setting up a hatchery at 219 East Center street.

Spending Total of Congress May Pass 20 Billions

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The budget bureau, adding up pyramiding defense outlays, found today that pending appropriations and contract authorizations might push this congress' spending total above $20,000,000,000.

This figure would not only be the largest in peacetime history, but would be more than double the amount actually spent in the last fiscal year.

Statisticians found that congress already had appropriated $13,-824,052,124 and authorized contracts for an additional $1,060,-487,009. These funds cover all regular governmental costs, as well as special defense items.

Main pending items are an appropriation estimate of $2,237,191,-957 and a contract authorization request of $2,732,960,000, both in the latest defense bill. Altogether completed and pending expenditure proposals total $19,920,783,-090.

Extra funds to pay for extraordinary training of the national guard and for conscription will be required if congress approves those military measures. They probably would put the total over the $20,000,000,000 mark.

The revenue ledger of the government also is showing gains, although a huge deficit is taken for granted.

Not even the budget bureau is able to yet to guess what the deficit will be for this fiscal year. The apparent deficit is more than $13,000,000,000, but the actual one may be only about a fourth as much.

Officials explained that revenues may turn out, especially if an excess profits tax is enacted, to be much larger than anticipated, and expenditures may be much smaller than they appear.

BISHOP HITS DRAFT

By The Associated Press

C. I. O. AUTO WORKERS SUPPORT THIRD TERM

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 5—The United Automobile Workers of America, second largest union in the C. I. O., today threw its support behind a third term for President Roosevelt.

Delegates to the international union's annual convention adopted a resolution giving "unswerving support and allegiance to the cause of the New Deal and for the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Although a stormy debate preceded adoption of the resolution it was approved by a 507 to 40 vote.

Opponents asserted the resolution was a slap at John L. Lewis, C. I. O. president, who has expressed opposition to a third term.

BRITISH RAID COAST, BRING DOWN 3 FOES

Italy Reports Increased Aerial Offensive; May Mean New Phases of Conflict.

By The Associated Press

Spectacular aerial offensives—possibly the preliminaries of important new phases of the European war — were reported today by both Britain and Italy.

Charging in within range of German anti-aircraft batteries on the continental coast of the English channel, the British air ministry said, a squadron of nine Spitfires caught a patrol of German Messerschmitts on their home grounds and shot down two. A third was reported downed on the English side of the channel.

With Britain on the alert against the threat of a Nazi blitzkrieg because of opportune tides and weather, this challenge may mean either that the British are trying to nip German plans in the bud or are taking the offensive to prevent Germany from organizing one.

Italian reports of having blasted important new British air bases in east Africa intimated a highly-organized, intensive campaign to wrest at least air control over the dark continent from the British.

However, sharply contradictory versions of the new aerial blows and counter-blows concealed their effectiveness. Both the axis powers and the British claimed to have scored heavily without having been hit hard.

Another step toward stabilizing southeastern Europe — again at Rumania's expense — was foreshadowed in Sofia.

Sources close to the Bulgarian government said Bulgaria and Rumania had settled preliminaries, and an agreement was expected to be signed Saturday in which Rumania would return southern Dobruja to Bulgaria, ending a 27-year dispute.

Rumania already has lost Bessarabia and northern Bucovina to Soviet Russia and is under Adolf Hitler's order to settle Hungary's claim to her Transylvania territory.

Rome Cites Success

Fourteen British planes were shot down in Africa yesterday, the Italian high command reported, while Italian fliers staged an "effective" raid on Mersa Matruh, Egypt.

Stefani, official Italian news agency, reported heavy Italian aerial assaults on British air bases in East Africa, particularly at the railroad junction towns of Haiya and Summit in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

It said the Italian air force was making a systematic attempt to wipe out strategic British bases surrounding Italy's African possessions.

Apparently answering an Italian report of 10 British planes shot down in one big air battle, a royal air force communique said four British planes, engaging 50 enemy craft over Libya, bagged two and lost only one. A third Italian plane, it said, was brought down by the Italians' own anti-aircraft fire.

Great Britain's production of aircraft now is running "neck and neck" with the output of German factories, an authoritative source declared today.

Taking into consideration the production of Canada and the United States on British order, Britain's monthly accumulation of planes now exceeds that of Germany, this source declared.

Beat Off Raiders

Countering other Italian claims, the British air force command at Cairo said also that the RAF beat off Italian air raiders attempting to reach Mersa Matruh. On the other hand, it said British bombs had hit an Italian naval vessel, had fallen among a squadron of Italian submarines at Massaua, Eritrea, and had hit a fuel dump there.

Similarly, the German high command claimed that British anti-aircraft positions, oil reserves and shipyards were hit and a merchant ship was sunk in St. George's channel in air raids last night and early today.

It acknowledged only that British planes raiding western Germany had killed one civilian and caused "slight damage to houses."

But the British, describing far-flung RAF attacks on Germany and the Nazi-held coast of the

PLANS RUSHED FOR CAMPAIGN

Parties Completing Setups for Streamlined Vote Drives; Hatch Act Debated.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—Three months before the November election, Democrats and Republicans are just completing their organizations for one of the shortest presidential campaigns in recent American history.

Both parties are planning to crowd into 10 or 11 weeks the oratory and doorbell ringing to which they previously devoted upwards of four months.

Even as the Republicans finished the framework of their campaign set-up this week-end, their general counsel, Henry P. Fletcher, and Attorney General Jackson clashed over an interpretation of Hatch act limits to political contributions.

Fletcher made public and opinion contending that the act's $5,-000 maximum on personal campaign gifts covered only contributions to a party's national committee or its senatorial or congressional committees.

Use Local Groups

"Any amounts above $5,000 that a donor desires to give should be given to state or local committees," Fletcher said, adding that these latter organizations "should be entirely divorced from the Republican national committee and should operate by authorization of the respective state committees."

The attorney general last night challenged Fletcher's statement, declaring:

"The department of justice will not render advisory interpretations of the Hatch act or of other laws for political parties or others. But silence in the face of the widely published opinion of Mr. Fletcher might mislead well-intentioned persons to believe it to be an accepted interpretation of the Hatch act.

"Hence it is fair to state now that no plans of this nature for avoiding the limitations of the Hatch act are accepted or approved by the department of justice."

The Hatch act prohibits a national political organization from spending more than $3,000,000.

APATHY HITS WALL STREET

Traders Uncertain About Hitler's Plans; Business Hopes Helpful

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK Aug 5—The direction was slightly downward in today's apathetic stock market

Continuance of the stalemate brokers thought was due mainly to inability of speculative forces to make up their minds just what Hitler is up to in the Anglo German conflict Business hopes remained the principal argument against liquidation.

Bonds were in mild demand here and there Commodities followed an irregular course

Inclined to slip occasionally were shares of U S Steel Bethlehem General Motors Douglas Aircraft American Telephone Texas Corp General Electric and N Y Central

Scattered rails had the benefit of surveys indicating the more promising crop picture in the west and southwest had substantially brightened earnings possibilities for gain carrying roads

We went up the broad front steps of the club, and he fumbled the screen door open. The light from the lounge streamed out, and I saw that he was carrying a book in his white-gloved hand.

He followed me in, set down my dressing case and slipped the book face down on a table, but not before I had seen the lurid jacket and the title, Come Back, My Heart.

"Mrs. Bridewell asked me to get her something," he said apologetically. "Have you patronized our small lending library in the basement of the church?"

"I didn't even know there was one——"

His face, I noticed, was not quite so repulsive looking. If he could manage not to get another attack he might look almost human in another week.

The club orderly, passing through from the bar to the kitchen regions, stopped when he saw us.

"There's some mail for you," Miss Cornish. I was fixing to bring it around to the colonel's quarters as soon as I got off duty. But since you're here I'll get it for you." He vanished.

"Would you like me to put the suitcase in your room?" the chaplain asked while we waited. "Or—perhaps you're not staying there?"

"No. Just leave it here, thank you," I said evasively. "I'll speak to Mrs. Bridewell——"

Rejected Manuscript

The orderly reappeared with the mail. I took it from him and muttered something uncomplimentary as I say that there was nothing from Adam.

"Not bad news, I trust?" the chaplain asked anxiously.

"No, just not good. A rejected manuscript and a letter from the same people. They were in an unpleasant hurry about it, I must say."

He tut-tutted a couple of times while I thrust the letter, unread, into my purse. Then he came out with some bright remark about if at first you don't succeed, or words to that effect.

The orderly, lingering, said, "Too bad about that young lady," and added fervently, "I'm glad I don't sleep here!"

"I understand the, ah, weapon was taken from the kitchens here?" the chaplain asked with what I could not help considering ghoulish interest.

"I guess it was. The cook said her best butcher knife was missing, and she hasn't got it back yet. She was pretty sore when she tried to cut the ham and this morning——"

I bit back a hysterical impulse to tell him he should speak to the colonel—tell him the cook needed her butcher knife. I felt that I would want a vegetarian breakfast.

"Anyway, I'm glad I wasn't around when that fellow come for the knife," the orderly dilated with gruesome relish. "I got one scare a couple of nights ago that will last me awhile. I was ready to go back to barracks, and there wasn't a soul around. It was a week night, and I guess everybody was in bed for a change. I went back to the kitchen to change my white coat for my uniform blouse that I always leave hanging out there, and I came back through the dining room. The lights were on out here, see, and the dining room wasn't exactly dark, so I didn't turn on no lights. I was almost to the hall when I seen this sort of floating white figure by the buffet. Not that it was actually floating, or even moving when I first saw it. It was standing real still, like it hoped I wouldn't just notice it at all. Well, for two shakes I would have just cut and run. But I was right by the door, and I figured I could get out quick if I had to, so I reached over and turned on the light."

He paused, enjoying our attention and creating suspense. Then he chuckled a little and went on.

"Well, sir, it was Mrs. Tack—the bride, you know. She had on a kind of white bathrobe, and she had a medicine bottle in one hand and a vinegar cruet in the other and she was pouring vinegar into the bottle. I reckon I thought she was daffy or something. I just stood there and stared until she gave a little laugh and asked me if I didn't know vinegar was good for a headache. Seemed she had one and was going to rub vinegar on her head. I told her it was a new one on me, but she just smiled and said, 'Don't tell anyone I swiped it.' So I didn't. But I guess she was just joking, don't you?"

This has been a good arguing year—with wars and various hatreds on the loose. With political campaigns and baseball wrangles, we have had the third term, "Gone With the Wind," billions for defense, television, short skirts, ladies' hats and the Fifth Column. Now it's the draft. People usually complain about drafts making them cold—but this one is making everyone hot. It looks like married men are going to miss the first draft—and wives are wondering whether the government thinks the married boys are getting their quota of battle training right at home. Use of this funeral home materially eases the burden at the family home. Floral deliveries and many of the calls that would make demands upon the family are received here and a record kept. Miss Marian Marks Weds Nevada Man at Put-in-Bay

MISS MARIAN MARKS, daughter of Chief of Police William E. Marks and Mrs. Marks of 850 Woodrow avenue, and Dean Cochran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fess Cochran of Nevada were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. George Vroman at Put-in-Bay.

Miss Marks was the third generation of brides to repeat her marriage vows at the Vroman homestead, one of the oldest homes on the island, which was built for her great-grandfather, Phillip Vroman and his bride, Amelia Luce Vroman in 1847. It was here that the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marks exchanged their vows on June 16, 1914, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Vroman were married on Nov. 18, 1891.

The garden provided the setting for the double ring ceremony read at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Rev. D. A. Cassetta, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Put-In-Bay.

At this time also Mr. and Mrs. Marks announced the marriage of their daughter, Rhea, and Edward Kahle, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kahle of Lyons, O., which took place March 30, this year, at Napoleon.

Mrs. Kahle attended her sister as matron of honor and Mr. Kahle served Mr. Cochran as best man.

For her wedding the bride wore a semi-formal gown of white organza with a shirred bodice and brocaded lace jacket. Her flowers were pink and orchid gladioli and her only jewelry was a gold cross, the gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. Kahle was costumed in a blue and pink flowered gown trimmed with blue ribbon. Her flowers were snap dragons and sweet peas.

Preceding the ceremony Miss June Cochran, sister of the bridegroom, Leonard Vroman, cousin of the bride, and Misses Evelyn and Erma Marks, sisters of the bride played an excerpt from "Mamenoi - Ostrow," Rubenstein, and Evelyn Marks sang "I Love Thee," Beethoven. For the processional they played the bridal music from Wagner's "Lohengrin."

The bride's mother was costumed in a black and white sheer dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a powder blue silk print. Both wore corsages of snap dragons and larkspur.

Following the ceremony there was a reception. The table was centered with a tiered wedding cake and decorated with pink and white gladioli, the colors chosen by the bride for her wedding.

Both the bride and bridegroom were graduated from Ohio State university in the class of 1939. Mrs. Cochran received her B. S. degree, majoring in education and music. She has been teaching harmony and sight singing at Adult evening school in Columbus, sponsored by Ohio State university. The bridegroom has a B. S. degree, majoring in English and social science. He will be principal and teach civics, general business and social science in the Put-In-Bay Schools this year.

After a short wedding trip the couple will go to Put-In-Bay to make their home.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Marks, parents of the bride, Evelyn and Irma Marks of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Kahle of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Fess Cochran and daughter June of Nevada, Mrs. George Vroman of Put-In-Bay and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartman of St. Petersburg, Fla. and Put-In-Bay.

Miss Mildred Turner, was in a dusty rose crepe dress, with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of pink roses and pink and white snapdragons. Earnest J. McCoy, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue ensemble, with white accessories. Her flowers were pink roses, statice and baby mums. Mrs. McCoy chose an egg shell lace dress and dusty rose accessories and her flowers were a corsage of pink roses, statice and blue delphinium.

The bride gave her sister a bracelet and Mr. McCoy presented his best man with an initialed chain.

Immediate families of the couple were entertained at a dinner at the Turner home after the ceremony. The bridal table was centered with a wedding cake with a miniature bride and bridegroom on top, a bowl of pink and white snapdragons and pink and white tapers was lighted. The other large table was centered with a bowl of blue delphinium, pink snapdragons and stevia. Mrs. Talmyr Clark served, assisted by her daughter Imogene.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy will make their home in Marion. Mrs. McCoy, a graduate of Pleasant Township High school in 1937, attended Marion Business college and until recently was employed in the office of Dr. William A. Pennington. Mr. McCoy, a graduate of Harding High school in 1935, is employed by the Erie railroad.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy left on a short wedding trip. For traveling Mrs. McCoy wore a shirred black Jersey dress and large black hat.

Guests at the wedding dinner in addition to the bridal party were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Talmyr Clark and daughter Imogene, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Turner, Mrs. Elizabeth Bowers, Howard McCoy and Merle Lust.

Marion Couple Take Vows in Epworth Church

MRS. GERALD SMART

GIVEN in marriage by her uncle, Bethel Van Meter of Marion, Miss Reva Loudenslager, daughter of Mrs. Hazel Loudenslager of 744 East Center street, became the bride of Gerald Smart, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smart of 607 Herman street, in a closed church ceremony yesterday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at Epworth Methodist church.

Dr. Edward T. Waring, pastor, officiated at the single ring service, read before the altar banked with palms and garden flowers and lighted by two seven-branch candelabra. In the center of the altar a tall white wicker basket held gladioli in coral and blue, the bride's wedding colors. Coral gladioli tied with blue ribbons marked the family pews.

The organ program played by Mrs. Harry T. Williams preceding the ceremony was composed of "At Dawning," by Cadman, "Indian Love Call," by Friml, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," by Herbert, and "Estrelita," by Ponce. Miss Rita Van Meter of Marion, cousin of the bride, sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." Mrs. Williams played the Wagner processional as the bridal party moved down the aisle and during the exchanging of vows she played "I Love You Truly," by Bond. The Mendelssohn march was played for the recessional.

Embossed white mousseline-de-soie fashioned the bride's wedding gown, made with a fitted basque and bouffant skirt ending in long train. The bodice was made with a sweetheart neckline and the sleeves, puffed at the shoulders, were fitted from the elbow to the wrists where they ended in points over her hands. Tiny pearl buttons fastened the bodice in the back. Her long veil of white silk net fell to the end of the long train of her gown and was finished with scallops edged in white satin. An arrangement of fresh flowers, a single white lily surrounded by small white asters, held the veil to her dark hair. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies and white asters tied with white satin streamers. Her only ornament was a rhinestone clip, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Robert Lindsey of Mt Gilead, was the matron of honor. Her gown, made on lines similar to the bride's, was of blue silk lace. She wore a wreath of flowers in her hair and carried an old-fashioned round bouquet of mixed flowers.

Four cousins of the bride completed her party. Misses Lila, Muriel and Varian Harraman of Marion were bridesmaids and little Miss Carol Harraman was the flower girl.

The bridesmaids' gowns were of net and were made alike, with long full skirts gathered to the fitted bodices and edged with deep ruffles around the hems. The bodices were made with sweetheart necklines and short puffed sleeves. Lila was in yellow, Muriel in chartreuse and Varian in peach. They wore garlands of flowers in their hair and carried round colonial bouquets of mixed flowers.

The flower girl's dress was a miniature model of the bride's, except for the train, and was made of white shadow organza. She wore flowers in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet.

The bridesmaids wore heart-shaped gold necklaces, gifts from the bride, and the flower girl wore her gift, a tiny gold cross on a gold necklace chain.

Robert Lindsey was Mr. Smart's best man and Don Wertman and Ira Bishman were ushers.

The bride's mother was in a navy blue figured chiffon and crepe gown with which she wore a large navy felt hat and navy accessories and a corsage of sweetpeas and roses.

Mrs. Smart wore a black crepe dress, black hat and a corsage of roses and sweet peas.

A reception at the Loudenslager home followed the ceremony. Baskets and vases of garden flowers decorated the rooms. At the refreshments table presided over by Mrs. Don Wertman, Mrs. Ira Bishman and Miss Betty Strayer, there was a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom, and an arrangement of coral and blue gladioli and coral candles in blue holders. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Anthony Palm of Detroit, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. C. R. Frye.

When Mr. Smart and his bride left for a week's wedding trip to Atlantic City and points in the east, the new Mrs. Smart wore a navy blue Hollywood sheer dress trimmed in white braid, with a short matching jacket, a small navy felt pompadour hat, and navy gloves and accessories. Upon their return they will live at 744 East Center street.

"NOVEL EXPERIENCE" IN CAREER OF BRITAIN'S EX-KING

The Duke of Windsor and his American-born Duchess (couple at right) are shown as they held an informal press conference in Lisbon, Portugal, before they sailed for Bermuda on the S. S. Excalibur. The Duke recently was named Governor-General of the Bahama Islands. He called his appointment "a novel experience in my career. He said he "never had the opportunity of governing one of the colonies and was "sure we shall like it there."

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

The Chief Emphatically Refuses the Offer of Madge and Lillian to Aid in Defense of the Farmhouse.

LILLIAN looked up at my father with twinkling eyes.

"I mean exactly what I said," she replied. "There are women in this house who could be used in defense work. They can sleep in the library with the others—if they get a chance to sleep—but they should not be compelled to stay there."

But there was no answering twingle in my father's eyes. Both his face and his voice were suddenly stern as he voiced what he evidently meant as an ultimatum.

"Of course I realize that you wish to exempt Margaret and yourself from the roster of the non-combatants," he said slowly, "and I can understand your very natural desire to witness our final triumph over Leslie's gang. But—I cannot permit you to leave the quarters downstairs which you will provide for the children and for the other women in the house. You will be needed there to guard them, for I can detail only one man for the protection of those rooms. There will be plenty for you to do, and I should advise that you keep your silencer pistols always in readiness. But I must reiterate most emphatically that neither of you is to come outside those rooms unless by my permission."

Women's Work

He gave us no chance for protest or question, but rose to signify he had finished his business with us. We took the hint, and rising from our chairs turned toward the door. He walked to it, and with his hand upon it, bowed in courtly fashion.

"I leave all details in your hands," he said. "But let me emphasize again that everybody in the house must be notified at once that from this minute on we must consider ourselves in a state of siege, although the blow may not fall for one, two or even three days to come."

He bowed us out, and when he had closed the door after us, Lillian swung me around facing her.

"How does it feel to be set back on your heels with a jar that telescopes your head, neck and spine?" she asked with a gamin grin.

"I don't like it," I said with decision. "Dicky and Harry are going to be out there in the thick of things, in grave danger, and we're not going to be able to be near them, either to help, as we've proved we can, or at least to share their danger. But I suppose there's nothing to do but submit."

"Don't be too sure about that," she said, but when I looked at her with a tense "what do you mean?" she patted my shoulder, and smiled enigmatically at me.

"I don't know myself—yet—" she said. "But I'm rising to remark now, that if they—of course Harry and Dicky are in on this—think they're going to coop us up doing cross word puzzles while Rome burns, they have several more thinklets coming. Give me a little time. I'll work this thing out. But suppose we go downstairs now to the library, and 'enter into the silence' for awhile until we get our bearings. It's going to take some planning to fit all our temperamental bunch into these rooms."

I silently agreed with her—I was too dispirited to speak—as we went down the stairs to the lower floor. Once inside the library, she closed the door, and, sitting down in one chair, at the extreme end of the room, motioned me to another opposite her.

"Lucky this room is so big," she said, "and its windows are already barred, as are those of your study. And those two alcoves might have been made to order."

"For whom?" I almost asked, but bit the question back, for I could see she was in the throes of planning the transformation of the library into an emergency barracks, and I knew better than to disturb her.

She gazed at the room with calculating eyes, for several seconds, and then turned to me.

"I think I have it, subject to your approval," she said. "The only thing that bothers me is what in the hinges of the hot place we're going to do with Ede."

What's Up?

WITH no reason to believe diplomats more honest than they used to be Americans have only one question to ask about Foreign Commissar Molotoff's widely reported speech to Soviet brass hats What's up?

Why is Molotoff hating the United States in public and flinging sand into John Bull's mussed hair? Why is he professing undying love for the Germans and their works? Why is he holding aloft a trial balloon inscribed Peace It's wonderful for Japan?

Ostensibly Molotoff was reporting the state of foreign relations to the supreme soviet Actually as can be seen even through the murkiness of conflicting and uncertain translations the Russian foreign minister was striving for an effect Russia and Germany were cemented in eternal friendship the United States and Great Britain had queered themselves with Moscow Japan was on probation

Diplomacy being what it is a process of pulling the other fellow's leg It must be assumed that Dictator Stalin Commissar Molotoff et al are worried for fear relations with Germany aren't so placid and permanent as they say they are Shades of Somebody!

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT the well known columnist has chided Alfred E Smith for rationalizing The idea is that the wandering warrior is kidding himself into thinking the New Deal shouldn't be sold in Democratic bottles because he personally doesn't like the taste of the stuff

Mrs Roosevelt bless her is kidding herself that the New Deal is pure essence of Democracy because she does like the taste of the stuff—as neat a bit of rationalization as has been performed in the public eye since her distinguished husband convinced himself recently on a national hookup that he was indispensable because as far as he could see he really was indispensable

For the Future Book

WHEN so many tasks remain to be finished ragweed elimination can't be made to seem important Nevertheless when war has been driven off the earth all the communicable and non communicable diseases eradicated parsley outlawed in restaurants tight races assured in all the professional baseball leagues sweetness and light made to shine into all the dark corners farmers aided to the limit of their desires, poverty finally made to disappear and proletarian and the capitalist reconciled the winters shortened and the summers lengthened and all the scourges of mankind including toil lifted from his back—wouldn't is be possible to pud awd the rag weed id wud big pile ad burd it?

Dilemma For Regulars

WHEN soothsayers forecast the New Deal's chances of getting squared away to run President Roosevelt for a fourth term they murmur somewhat as follows

Solid south has 113 votes um Only takes 266 to hang on um Need 153 more Get 49 of em in the border states um Pick up 40 more in California Washington New Mexico Arizona and Montana That leaves 64 to go um Illinois (Kelly-Nash), New Jersey (Hague) and Missouri (shades of Pendergast) and Iowa (Wallace) would do it, um

The catch to the proposition is the solid south's 113 votes. As long as the south holds solid the New Deal will be hard to beat The instant its 100 odd votes slip the New Deal is in hot water and regular Democrats will have a fighting chance to get back in the saddle Its something to remember when Wendell Willkie promises to campaign just as hard in the south as anywhere else and when old line Jeffersonians from the cotton belt swear they'd rather be snot suh than leave the party As Mr Willkie already has pointed out in that connection it's the party which has left them deserting the best friend it ever had

News Behind the News

Germans Expected To Strike at British Air Force, Then Launch Invasion.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON Aug 5 — War Secretary Stimson's astounding suggestion that Great Britain may be conquered within 30 days may have seemed to be part of the administration's campaign to scare the draft bill through congress but it has well grounded roots in inside reports. A collective summary of information and opinion from the latest most reliable and accurate sources abroad (not in any way connected with the war department but no doubt available to Mr Stimson) has brought the following diplomatic intelligence to authorities here

Paul Mallon

The Germans are going to invade England

Before they can do it they will have to destroy the effectiveness of the British air force

To clear the British skies the German war chief must have to depot their German air force to a point where it will be less than the combined British and Russian force prospect they distinctly dislike

The new Blitz contemplates the use of mustard gas against British landing fields in order to make them unusable

It must strike before October because the weather always has been unfavorable after that

There will be no moon over England for a period of a week beginning in a few days

Note — Even the best of military authorities are as often wrong as not Their business is one in which surprise is the rule rather than the exception But the above at least represents the best of their calculations now available

Basis of Reasoning

Their reasoning goes like this Invasion of England can not be attempted as long as the British have the plane strength to bomb and machine gun landing parties Shallow draft boats and barges in which the Germans would come are extremely vulnerable to air attack especially machine gunning Furthermore the particular areas to be invaded must be thoroughly cleaned out by German bombing before landing can be attempted The situation therefore calls clearly for the type of German preparatory air campaign used in Poland to neutralize the Polish air force before the land forces moved in.

How long this "neutralization" would require is a question upon which the experts lack agreement. The Germans have a heavy preponderance in planes British morale is high British pilots and planes are superior

Thus the authentic signs only indicate the greatest air battle of all time may now be developing, with arithmetic evidently favoring the Germans and the incalculable human attributes of sheer British desperation and hope working against them

Note A long range German Italian blockade of British sea lifelines such as Gayda and the Berlin press puppets have been suggesting is regarded everywhere here as sheer nonsense There are a few good military calculators who believe Hitler will decide against sacrificing the major portion of his air fleet and tail for a break but these are in the minority

Hopkins Angered*

It was no surprise that Farley and Garner or even Interior Secretary Ickes were disappointed in varying degrees with what happened in Chicago but it is something of a stunning suggestion that Commerce Secretary Harry Hopkins the man who ran the show has dropped a few tears in his beard also

Hopkins friends know he wanted the job as national chairman in fact he appears to have had it in his vest pocket until the bad reaction to Chicago events made it necessary for Mr Roosevelt to choose someone else

Some of these friends are suggesting Mr Hopkins was sufficiently angry to have quit the cabinet at one time but that prospect seems to have passed

Wallace Talk

Someone asked a newsman who attended vice presidential candidate Henry Wallace's initial speech to the National Press club what the secretary had talked about

The response was

He didn't say

Scope of Defense

Tremendous Task Faces Men in Charge of Preparedness

This is the first of a series of articles prepared by the National Defense Advisory Commission which The Star is publishing to give its readers a clear picture of the nation's defense program

The President as commander-in-chief of the army and navy has requested approximately $1 000 000 000 to build up our army and navy The congress was asked to permit increasing the strength of our army to 1 200 000 and to provide means of obtaining equipment sufficient to outfit an additional 800 000 men who might be called to the colors

At the present moment we have a force of 500 000 men made up of the regular army the national guard and the organized reserves Under the terms of the new defense program we will have to provide men and materials to increase our armed forces fourfold And we have to do it in a hurry

Now that's no simple problem It's more than just opening the door and announcing We would like to hire a million and a half men and have them step right up and become soldiers The men have to be trained They have to become familiar with the complex instruments of modern warfare In order to do that they have to be equipped with those instruments, and plenty of them

A modern army needs everything from safety pins to locomotives It needs guns and ammunition to be sure and those guns and ammunition must be of the most modern type to be effective To put a modern army in the field calls for clothes food and medical supplies It also calls for a means of getting to the battle and means of supply when it gets there

Modern war is total war We must be fully prepared

The Job Ahead

Accomplishing this task in the face of an emergency requires coordination of our resources of men and materials and above all coordination of our huge industrial plant that is the backbone of the nation in peace as well as in war Many of the supplies we are going to need are turned out every day by the nation's industries These can be procured by the government through normal channels of industry But many others are special equipment needed only for defense These must be especially built for us some in new plants. In making these special instruments we must minimize interference with normal requirements of the nation But we have to have them just the same

To see that this operation goes ahead fast and efficiently the President appointed the National Defense Advisory commission on May 28 1940 This commission is composed of men who are particularly qualified by special knowledge of an industry public utility of some natural resource or are otherwise specially qualified The commission's task is to translate the defense books from laws on the statute books, from a blueprint into actual supplies need by the men under arms.

Their problem rests upon three vital questions

Where is it?

What do we need?

How do we get it?

It perhaps is the greatest unified effort ever undertaken by the American people It has already started

What We Need

The outlines of the job under way are already clear On May 16 the President asked congress to provide $1 182 000 000 for defense On May 31 he again sent a message declaring that the incredible events abroad during the latter part of May necessitated another $1 277 741 170 to speed up preparation for our military and naval needs On July 10 due to further drastic changes in the world situation and because of the united will of the American people to defend themselves against all enemies foreign and domestic the President asked for further appropriation of $4 848 171 857 for national defense

This would provide for

Equipping a navy to meet any possible combination of hostile forces

Total equipment for a land force of 1 200 000

Reserve stocks of tanks guns and artillery ammunition for an additional 800 000 men

15 000 additional planes for the army and 4 000 for the navy

Manufacturing facilities public and private to produce essential equipment required for our forces.

In order to provide that equipment we determine what the army and navy need in terms of uniforms guns tanks, planes, and ships This is broken down into raw materials Provision is made for processing these raw materials Plants are provided to convert these materials into the weapons to put into the hands of the troops The nation is like a gigantic production line A breakdown at any point along the hundreds of raw materials lines might stall the whole machine That must not happen As fast as the men are ready the materials must be ready This series will explain how this is being accomplished

RECRUIT WITH FILMS

By International News Service

HANKOW China—Films showing scenes from the Chinese battlefields are being sent to the Yunnan and Szechwan provinces in the hope of drawing recruits from the isolated and uncivilized spots The Lolos as these wild peoples are called are in the main ignorant of the war with Japan They are hostile to strangers and until recently were accustomed to greet visitors by cutting them exactly in two, and sending the halves to different ends of the district. Hardly any one in Lololand has ever seen a battleship a railway engine or an airplane How to inform them about the war was a hard problem until the National Military Affairs commission thought of sending the films.

Local Governments' Job

National Defense Needs Their Help

SCATTERED reports of local and state governments taking national defense to heart indicate a trend which will demand increasing attention Taxpayers in Maine for instance have witnessed their state government selling $1 000 000 worth of bonds under a constitutional provision that permits bonds to be issued without a vote of the electorate to repel invasion or suppress insurrection Elsewhere minor league politicians have been adopting resolutions on matters which are no legitimate concern of theirs

There is obviously a vast amount of work to be done by local and state governments to perform Ohio for example must do everything possible to expedite manufacture of machine tools a vital task which it is better prepared to perform than any other state in the Union Before mass production methods can be applied to arming the United States the machines and dies must be made ready According to the Ohio State university bureau of business research this state's machine tool industry is greater than that in the next three machine tool states combined —Connecticut Illinois and Massachusetts

All units of government must operate economically American Municipal association recently released a report showing how British local government was affected by a defense program with a view to providing guidance for the United States One of the first problems faced was the demand for economy as material costs soared and local tax revenue sagged Police departments had to deal with sabotage control traffic during blackouts build air raid shelters train demolition and rescue squads establish auxiliary fire departments, mobilize hospital and first aid services, evacuate thousands of inhabitants from danger zones, administer food rationing plans and develop emergency water supplies

The central government required local governments to cease borrowing for any projects not of pressing necessity and all proposals for loans over $40 000 had to be submitted for treasury approval In the national campaign against waste local governments had three important duties according to American Municipal association's report They supervised rationing of food through committees of retailers and consumers representatives They allotted public and private land for growing of crops They organized a systematic salvage of waste paper tins and other metals rags glass bones and hog feed from household refuse

One result of loss of men employes in local governments to the army navy and air force was the opportunity given women They were recruited as ambulance drivers communications operators record keepers firemen

We'll Take "God Bless America for Our Money; "Star Spangled Banner" Too Tough To Handle

By DAMON RUNYON

THE Rev Dr Edgar Franklin Romig pastor of West End Reformed church of New York City lifts his ecclesiastical brows two inches higher in disapproval of songs like "God Bless America He speaks of it and similar ditties as mawkish and doggerel—mawkish meaning sentimental or feeble sentimentality and doggerel meaning trivial empty ill-made verse. (The kind he used to write)

The denunciation came in the course of a good doctor's sermon last Sunday in which he asked if present day Americans do not use God's name too readily He said that mingled with much that is good in the spiritual composition of our people there is a strange and specious substitute for religion held by many in times of crisis like the present.

Damon Runyon

It is compounded, he said of excess emotion wishful thinking and a facile evading of the rudimentary discipline essential to the building of individual and social well-being and finds expression in the mawkish iteration of such a song like God Bless America

Well the doctor is away out of line here We are not saying that God Bless America any of the other popular patriotic songs today display titanic genius of composition or authors make no such claim

But we certainly do not think the singing of these songs is an expression of another than the patriotic sentiment which songs happen to state in language more understandable to most of us than say the doctor in his syllabics.

WE ARE a simple little people—we think millions who are singing God Bless America the top song of the type at the moment is a simple little song with simple little words which are a simple little statement of a thing we might not otherwise know just how to express. In our opinion the song no more represents a too ready use of God's name than do nightly prayers for God to bless all else we hold dear When we sing God Bless America we devoutly hope the Deity will hear

As a matter of fact, Dr Romig ought to take satisfaction in anything that brings God's name in reverence to the minds and lips of the people in this day and age Only too many have not been giving him the thought they should It ought to make any champion of decency which the doctor must be feel pretty good to hear the entire nation for once singing a clean song instead of one that calls for a fumigation

GOD BLESS AMERICA would not be inappropriate in church Indeed its brevity may be a musical tip to churches on how the people like It might not be a bad idea to replace some hymns which are not entirely immune to the charge of mawkishness and doggerel with stuff the customers can wrap around their tonsils with greater facility The stock in trade of God Bless America is that it is easy to sing

Our national anthem The Star Spangled Banner is much tougher going The tune is not as easily remembered and the tempo is slower Anybody can keep on the pace of God Bless America but with The Star Spangled Banner a sucker singer is apt to go astray showing too much speed or lagging behind in the ruck

As far as The Star Spangled Banner is concerned however we agree with Dr Romig that it will outlive contemporary songs and officially the national anthem under an act of congress in 1931 When Dr Romig speaks of the great national anthems he errs There can be but one He is under a misapprehension too when he speaks of those great national anthems (most of them have lousy music)—as coming out of the hearts of men who knew what it was to sacrifice for America if he is implying that our present day writers know no such sacrifices

FRANCIS SCOTT KEY a Maryland lawyer visited the British fleet in Chesapeake bay in 1814 to secure the release of a friend who had been captured He was detained during the shelling of Fort McHenry Key's anxiety a high pitch throughout the night and when the morning he saw the American flag flying over the Baltimore fortress he gave vent to his feelings in The Star Spangled Banner

Irving Berlin who wrote God Bless America" put in a hitch as an enlisted man in the U S army in the World war and is giving the profits on the song to charity

Rocket Shells Coming?

By HOWARD W BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK Aug 5—Three inch shells equivalent of field artillery to be fired from existing airplanes by rocket power have opened the possibilities of the present war through recent advances in engineering

Such shells would bring something new in ballistics as well as in war itself—a projectile which travels fastest as it nears the target instead of on emerging from gun muzzle

The velocity of these 3 inch rockets would equal that of a 3-inch field gun—2 000 feet a second But the rocket attains this velocity a mile after its start

The possibilities are described by Alfred Africano rocket engineer and member of the ordnance association in astonautics, Journal of the American Rocket society This is a well known organization of practical engineers Germany has such a society from which has been heard for some years. Mr African's figures are based on American experiments

Existing planes cannot carry 3 inch field guns because each weighs about 3 000 pounds existing planes could not fire such a gun if carried because of the tremendous recoil involving

The rocket shells are free from both these obstacles. They need only a light rack for carrying and there is virtually no recoil

'When enough data is available" Mr Africano says, "to compare the various trajectories possible by the rocket-projectile combination with trajectories of existing projectiles many startling new features will be disclosed

'The strategic advantages of the rocket projectile in modern warfare so dependent on the airplane, may well make its development a most promising field of research"

Anecdotes of Ohio

By GILBERT DODDS

Limited resources did not prevent Charles Francis Hall of Cincinnati from winning a place in the annals of Arctic exploration

Hall came to Ohio from his native New Hampshire and worked as a blacksmith journalist stationer and engraver in Cincinnati When Sir John Franklin set out to discover the Northwest Passage and was lost, Hall tried to organize an American expedition to search for him England had given up

A year later in 1860 Hall made his first Arctic trip using an American whaler and landing in Frobisher Bay on July 30 He returned in 1862 bringing many relics of Frobisher's expedition and two loyal Eskimo aids, Joe and Hannah.

FELLER WINS FROM YANKS WHILE REDS SPLIT WITH BE

Cincinnati Clings To League Lead Largely Because Brooklyn, Too, Is Having Bad Luck.

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the sake of Old Casey Stengel's thinning hair, it's a good thing the Cincinnati Reds are still in the National League

And, for the sake of those World Series bubbles currently being inflated in the Rhineland, it's quite fortunate for the Reds that misfortunes have been dogging the Brooklyn Dodgers—misfortunes like the "beaning" of Ducky Medwick back in mid June, which finally has led to the benching of the muscles man for weak hitting

On the one hand there's old Casey tearing his hair out in bunches at the woeful ways of his Boston Bees against the other clubs in the National league only to paste it back on again when ever his club tangles with the Reds

On the other hand, the Reds came east July 23 with a five game lead in the National league dropped eight of 18 starts and are now on the way home with a 6½ Dodgers This is largely because game lead over the second place the Brooklyns could only win six while losing nine to the western invaders

Bees Leave Cellar

Old Casey is only sorry the Reds Boston stay wasn't longer than the three double header program over the week end In that time his Bees not only took four of six including a split in yesterday's finale but climbed out of the loop cellar

Since the Phillies lost two to the fast moving Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1 and 6-4 the Bees split dropped the Phils into the cellar

The Dodgers didn't have a chance against the Chicago Cubs in their opener and dropped it 11 3, as Gabby Hartnett's laughing boys rang the bell for a season high with a 21-hit attack The Cubs shot six runs across in the first three frames of the afterpiece but the Dodgers tied it up on Pee-Wee Reese's ninth inning homer and won out 7-6 in the 11th when Dolph Camilli clouted one over the right field fence

The St Louis Cardinals wound up a high flying eastern swing by splitting with the Giants losing 3 2 and winning 6-3

With the possible exception of Washington's Senators the eastern half of the American league limped home today glad the trip was all over Only the Nats came through with an edge in the invasion and they had to knock off Jimmy Dykes Chicago White Sox twice yesterday to do it 4-3 and 1-0

Feller Wins

The New York Yankees wound up in the west with the doubtful honor of not having taken a series Bobby Feller tossed the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 win yesterday

This victory boosted the Tribe to within half-a-game of the league leading Detroit Tigers who fell victims to Mose Grove who helped himself to his third straight win with an eight hitter for a 7-3 victory

Before Feller settled down, Charley Keller singled in the second inning and Joe Gordon bent out a bunt They advanced on a sacrifice and Keller scored on another out But the Yanks got only two hits after that

The Indians made 10 hits off Charlie Ruffing Ben Chapman tied the score in the third when he doubled and came in on Roy Weatherly's hot single

In the fifth, Russ Peters and Rollie Hemsley singled and Feller drove in the winning run with a hot shot past Ruffing The final run was made by Lou Boudreau who singled stole second and scored on another single by Hemsley

It was Feller's 18th victory of the season

Reds Saddened by Suicide of Plucky Catcher

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI Aug 5 — The saddened Cincinnati Reds returned home today without their plucky little second string catcher Willard Hershberger and welcomed a day of rest before facing the Chicago Cubs

Hershberger

Hershberger who ended his life with a razor blade in a Boston hotel room Saturday was moving west on another train—to the end of his journey in Visalia Calif for funeral services Thursday

The Reds concluded their ill-fated tour by splitting a doubleheader with Boston losing the first game 5 3 and taking the nightcap 12 0 Members of the Cincinnati club blamed Hershberger's despondency over their losing streak on the tour for his act He took responsibility for part of the losses on himself they said

Yankees Are Often Mean to Pitchers, But Al Smith Is Grateful to Champs

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND — Al Smith isn't angry with the New York Yankees Even that 7 run first inning outburst with which they greeted him is his last New York appearance didn't sour Al on the champs

You see the Yanks indirectly gave Al his chance to make good in a big league comeback — and his record of 10 victories against three losses up to the end of July indicates that the big Cleveland southpaw is making good

Al who won his way back to the big leagues by turning in a 16 2 record for Buffalo last year was just touring along with the Indians early this year pitching an occasional relief chore

Then the word got around that the Yanks were having trouble with left hand pitchers, Manager Oscar Vitt remembering that Al tosses the ball from the port side decided to give the big newcomer a starting assignment against the New Yorkers

Beat Yanks Twice

Smith beat em and looked good doing it Vitt started him again against the same club—and again the champs bit the dust. So Mr Smith won a regular starting turn — and from there on Mr Smith went to town

Al's biggest success secret is control (he passed only 59 batters in 160 innings last year) and a screwball pitch that he lets fly

AL SMITH
Luck and Cooperation Help.

on an average of once every four throws. He's no inexperienced hurler either He started in professional baseball in 1930, was with the Giants in 1933 worked some for the Phillies but has never had the major loop success he's enjoying this year

The big guy doesn't claim any great credit for his record to date He says luck and some swell cooperation have been his biggest aids. Like all the other Clevelanders he has kind words for Boudreau and Mack the Indians snappy rookie pair at the keystone sack

"They saved one game for me without a doubt he recalls We were tied with Boston 1 and 1 in the fifth inning one down and the Sox were really scrapping for the lead With what looked like a damaging rally on the way that pair of kids worked a double play on a slow grounder that might have been tough for a single out in most cases. I don't see how they did it

He is not doing too much enthusing about being back in the big time

Anything can happen" he reminds you "You may work several good games, lose em by one or two runs Or you can pitch a string of not-so-good ones and come out of em okey because you had super support So I'm not banking too much on my won lost record so far this year I don't know when my luck may change"

Al 31 years old is married and has a one-year-old daughter His home in the off-season is at Webster Grove near St. Louis

By The United Press

UPPER SANDUSKY, Aug. 5—Seven persons were injured in traffic accidents near here over the week-end and this morning. Most seriously hurt was Mrs. Wendell Wentz, about 65, of near Carey, who suffered a fractured skull when an automobile driven by her husband and another operated by Bernard Hoerr, 26, of Upper Sandusky, collided at a county road intersection four miles north of here Saturday afternoon about 5:30. She was treated at a physician's office and removed to Bucyrus City hospital in the Hoffman & Son ambulance. Her husband and Mr. Hoerr escaped with minor bruises.

Three persons were slightly injured in a similar accident at 9 a. m. Saturday at a county road about a mile north of the county line. Miss Virginia Gilliland of near Nevada and E. of Bucyrus, suffered minor scratches. Mervin Hancock, a companion of the Bucyrus girl, escaped with scratches.

Miss Carolyn Janet Lynch, 26, Carey teacher, was cut about the left knee when her car skidded off the wet pavement and struck a utility pole during a rainstorm this morning. THREE HELD IN MILWAUKEE EXTORTION SCHEME

These threse men were held by Milwaukee police and Detective Lieut. Arthur J. Burns said they had admitted participation in an imaginative scheme to extort $100,000 from Rowland H. Davie, of Milwaukee. They are, left to right, Walter Paul Minx, 23, ornamental iron worker; Kurt Frederick Minx, 27; and Daniel Carter, 28. Police said that Davie received a note directing him to drop $100,000 in bills in Lake Michigan, and that a homemade submarine was to be used in picking up the money and escaping.

To File Charge in Officer's Death

threats had been made by a group of persons who gathered around the Galion jail before Smith's removal. Police Chief George Moody of Galion said that the crowd was orderly but that he "thought it best to take Smith to the county jail."

Concussion Fatal

Meanwhile an ambulance was summoned to remove the officer to the hospital. One witness reported that Upson pulled a blackjack from his pocket before he fell and that he had to pry open the officer's hand to remove it. Herman Volk, the ambulance driver, told officers that Upson was bleeding profusely and that on arrival at Good Samaritan hospital nurses were unable to feel any pulse.

An autopsy was perfomred by Dr. O. R. Kackley, Crawford county coroner, who said Upson's death was due to a "brain concussion as a result of a blow on the head." He said that his report would not be complete for several days. The coroner said although Upson fell to the pavement he does not believe Upson struck his head with sufficient force to cause the fatal injury.

Vault Co. Worker

Smith, whose parents are dead, was a truck driver for the National Vault Co. in Galion. He was enroute to his home on South street. He is unmarried.

Prosecutor Scanlon said his investigation brought statements from witnesses and others that Smith was "quarrelsome and mean" especially on occasions when he "was drinking." The prisoner previously had engaged in arguments with Galion officers including Upson, according to the prosecutor. He had been arrested several times, as recently as July 6 when he was charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, police said.

Charges to be brought against Smith will be determined at the close of the prosecutor's investigation. He may be charged with first degree murder under a special Ohio statute covering the death of an officer while on duty, Prosecutor Scanlon said. The prosecutor reported he believed the prisoner's assertion that he was not drunk at the time and that reports that he appeared to have been drinking likely will have little bearing on the charge which he will face.

Funeral Plans

Today in Galion plans for funeral services for the dead officer were being completed. They will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the Volk funeral home. Rev. W. N. Robertson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will be assisted by Rev. H. K. Freeman, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery and fellow postmen will act as pallbearers. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mr. Upson was born in Marshalltown, Ia., Nov. 20, 1869, the son of Dewitt and Laura Holton Upson. He was married to Mable J. Stevenson.

The widow, three sons, Dewitt M. Upson of Cleveland, Charles S. Upson of Ypsilanti, Mich., and Neville U. Upsom of Galion, and five grandchildren, survive.

He came to Galion October, 1899. For the past 15 years he has been a member of the Galion police force. Prior to that he served a number of years as health officer and merchant policeman.

In National Guard

For 50 years he was affiliated with the I. O. O. F. lodge and also was a member of the Moose lodge, Brotherhood of Painters & Decorators of America and of Co. L of the Ohio National guard. Each year he went on camping trips to Wisconsin and Minnesota as cook for parties of campers and was planning to make his annual trip again next month. He also was planning to retire from the police force in the near future, it was reported.

WAR

English channel, declared that three German fighters had been shot down in the attacks and admitted only that one British plane was missing. Damage from the Nazi raids on isolated midlands and eastern England districts was negligible, a British communique said, and casualties few.

Tides Up Today

Highest tides of the month began today and will continue through Friday, accompanied by forecasts of a calm sea and fogs on the English channel—all favorable for a would-be invader.

British airmen reported that over the week-end they machine-gunned troops at Abbeville, in Nazi-occupied French territory, and bombed truck convoys, an armored train and barges in Belgium.

The British air ministry reported German defenses against planes were weaker and less accurate, so that the RAF penetrated deep into the industrial heart of Germany as well as bombing naval srtuctures at Kiel and synthetic oil plants elsewhere.

With the hours of darkness lengthening as the summer wears on, British sources said harder and harder aerial offensives would be aimed at Germany.

Meanwhile, the Germans kept up their regular aerial harassment of Britain. A British report said one person was killed and three were other casualties in raids during the night on eastern England and the midlands but damage was "negligible."

The Germans told of air attacks in the vicinity of Liverpool, on the west coast, Saturday night.

Attack Sardinia

British reported a destructive attack by "swordfish" planes on Italy's Sardinian base of Cagliari Friday morning.

Italy acknowledged loss of another submarine, but did not tell how or when. The announcement was coupled with a report of widespread and crippling raids on British positions in Africa. British forces reported from Cairo that they in turn had hit three Italian ships in three air raids on Derna, Italian Libya.

British-Japanese friction continued over the arrests of each other's citizens. It was disclosed that Britain intended to deport two Japanese arrested in London almost two weeks before the Japanese seized 15 Britons in Japan. Nine of the British now have been released.

The Japanese laid their detention of Britons to investigation of an "espionage network" in Japan, while unofficial British sources said the Japanese were held for reasons of "national security."

CULTIST IN HOSPITAL AFTER SNAKE ATTACK

CINCINNATI, Aug. 5—While a 48-year-old nurse lay in serious condition from the bite of a copperhead suffered at the frenzied height of a religious ceremony, the head of the cult said today that the snakes would be used "anytime the Lord requires."

The victim was Mrs. Ethel Sheeby, one of several persons bitten as at least two of the snakes were tossed about among the congregation of the True Church of God. The Rev. G. M. Hensley contended the ritual enabled members to "feel the power" of God.

Police confiscated two reptiles used during last night's service.

Lieut. Jacob Schardt said one was removed before rites opened and that the other was seized only after he threatened to shoot it as it was being passed from one person to another.

Mr. Hensley, whose home is Pineville, Ky., said confiscation of the reptiles was "unimportant, because the Lord doesn't care what happens to them after he is through with them."

Mr. Hensley claimed to have been bitten more than 200 times during his career.

Mrs. Sheeby's arm was swelling when hospital attendants

DR. COOK, EXPLORER OF ARCTIC, IS DEAD

Long Illness Fatal to Beaten Rival of Peary.

By The Associated Press

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Aug. 5—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, 77-year-old explorer, whose claims to discovery of the North Pole precipitated an early Twentieth century controversy, died today after a long illness.

Stricken three months ago by a cerebral hemorrhage, the aged adventurer of the Arctic never fully recovered, and was taken again to the hospital 10 days ago.

Dr. Cook sprang to international prominence in September, 1909, when he announced he had discovered the North Pole. Five days later Admiral Robert E. Peary claimed he had reached the top of the world first.

Cook's claim that he discovered the pole on April 21, 1908, a year before Peary reached the world's top, eventually was held to be disproved and Peary, who insisted he could find no evidence of anyone preceding him when he was there in April, 1909, was accepted as the discoverer.

Cook sank into comparative obscurity after his losing fight with Peary until 1922 when he was convicted of mail fraud and sentenced to 14 years in prison. He was paroled in 1930.

Then, as he lay apparently on his death bed last May, President Roosevelt granted him a full pardon and as Cook emerged from a coma which had claimed him for days, he uttered only a feebie "Thanks—happy."

Our Destroyers Would Be Great Help To Britain

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

General Pershing's recommendation that the United States make available at least 50 old World war destroyers to England probably raises the question in many minds as to just why it should be a destroyer and not some other weapon which is suggested.

Short of a big new air-force, there are few things which would be of greater assistance to Britain at this crucial juncture than an additional fleet of destroyers. The fact that they were of World war vintage wouldn't rob them of their usefulness.

The destroyer is the handy weapon of any navy, as useful as a jack-knife and invaluable both for offense and defense.

Like The Mongoose

I never think of these fast watch-dogs of the sea without being reminded of the Mongoose, that courageous, slim-bodied, lightning-fast little animal which will tackle a cobra or any other venomous snake on sight, and generally "gets its man." I've seen these furry "destroyers" at work in India and some parts of the West Indies, and in those snake-infested sections of the world they are great protection for the homes.

So the destroyer is the protector. Its business is to get the enemy, before the latter has a chance to strike. Had it not been for destroyers in the last conflict Britain might have succumbed to the German submarine campaign of 1916-17. It was a close call as it was.

Now England not only is battling the Nazi attempt to establish a starvation blockade about the terribly vulnerable British isles, but is faced with a possible invasion. The great defense against an invasion would be the navy, and here the destroyer would do yeoman's work.

Have to Be Fast

Since one of the principal jobs of the destroyer is to overtake and destroy the fast torpedo-boat and submarine before a torpedo can be discharged. It has to be very fast. Destroyers vary, but roughly they run from 1,000 to 1,500 tons and have a speed of some 35 knots.

They carry medium-caliber guns, have a number of torpedo tubes, are equipped with depth-bomb apparatus for destruction of submarines, and many of them are specially built to ram U-boats.

Destroyers are essential auxiliaries to any battle fleet, and one of their functions is to form an anti-submarine and anti-aircraft screen for the bigger fighting ships.

CAMPAIGN

Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, said that "the Republican organization, the Willkie clubs and the Independent Democrats who are supporting me will spend about $2,500,000."

Willkie In Iowa

Willkie was in Des Moines today for a conference with midwest farm lenders, but he is holding back formal campaigning until after his acceptance address Aug. 17 at Elwood, Ind.

President Roosevelt, seeking an unprecedented third term, has indicated that defense and foreign problems would keep him close to Washington much of the time. Inspection trips to various defense projects, however, may give him opportunity for speechmaking and political conferences on the side.

Much of the Democratic campaigning may fall to Secretary Henry A. Wallace, the President's running mate, but he will not begin until his acceptance speech late in August.

Sen. Charles McNary of Oregon, Wallace's Republican opponent for the vice presidency, who will accept his nomination about the same time, plans only five or six major speeches. Most of them will be in the west.

Senator Glass (D-Va.), who placed James A. Farley's name in nomination at the Democratic convention, disclosed Saturday night that he would vote for Mr. Roosevelt despite his opposition to a third term.

TAKEN BY DEATH

L. C. WASSER

L. C. WASSER, RETIRED CABINET MAKER, DIES

Stricken at Home of Daughter; Rites Wedneseday.

Lewis C. Wasser, 80, retired cabinet maker and carpenter, died today at 3:15 a. m. at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William C. Perry, with whom he had made his home since October of 1936. Death followed a two-week illness of infirmities of age.

Mr. Wasser gained considerable newspaper publicity two years ago when he completed from memory a miniature of the old log schools where he started his education in 1857. The cabin was virtually perfect in exterior and interior detail and was the result of months of painstaking work.

Since his retirement in 1936 after 17 years in Toledo where he operated a business of remaking and repairing furniture, he had devoted his time to fashioning articles of furniture from beautiful woods.

Made Unusual Tables

His daughter and grandchildren each were presented with tilt-top tables of his own hand work. The table presented to his daughter was made of 14,451 tiny pieces of woods of 22 kinds.

Mr. Wasser was a member of Epworth Methodist church and was one of the oldest Odd Fellows in years of membership in Marion county. He joined Prospect Lodge No. 483 on Feb. 4, 1882 and later transferred his membership to Kosciusko Lodge No. 58 of Marion, in which he still retained his membership.

Mr. Wasser started to work with wood in the '70's and spent 20 years in planing mills, later working in the pattern departments of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., the Osgood Co., and the old Power Mfg. Co. and Leader Co.

On May 2, 1939, he and his wife, the former Miss Amelia J. Rathell, celebrated their sixty-fourth wedding anniversary. On July 26 of the same year Mrs. Wasser died. They were married in Marion on May 2, 1876 at the bride's home by Rev. S. D. Bates, Baptist minister. Mr. and Mrs. Wasser lived in Green Camp two years and then moved to Prospect where they lived until they came to Marion in 1883. They lived here until 1919 and then moved to Toledo.

Born Near Prospect

Mr. Wasser was born on April 16, 1851 in Prospect township to Charles A. Wasser, a native of Pennsylvania, and Sophia Fisher Wasser, a native of Indiana.

Surviving with the daughter are five grandchildren, three great-grandchildren, a brother, John Wasser of Clay City, Kans., and a sister, Mrs. Julia Ann Herriot of Monticello, Ind.

The funeral will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Perry home and at 2:30 at Epworth church. Dr. Edward T. Waring, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the Perry home after 7:30 tonight.

DEMANDS BY JAPS ON INDO-CHINA LISTED

Reported Seeking Right To Use Strategic Railway.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5 — Chinese reports said today Japan had made new, sweeping demands on the government of French Indo-China, including the right to use the French railway into the Chinese province of Yunnan for military operations and to establish a military or naval base on the Indo-China coast.

These reports were not confirmed by other sources and were denied by an official Japanese spokesman in Tokyo.

The Chinese accounts said the Japanese wanted to use the railway from Haiphong, on the Indo-China coast, to Kunming, capital of Yunnan, for operations against the Chinese forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Such a thrust would menace the vulnerable southwestern provinces, Chiang's main stronghold. A coastal base presumably would be used for naval operations in the south seas, possibly designed to fix Japanese domination of the Dutch East Indies.

TRANSIENT JAILED ON SHOPLIFTING CHARGE

48 Candy Bars Among Loot Recovered by Police.

A colored transient who gave his name to police as William Hunt, 42, was arrested Saturday night, his pockets bulging with merchandise which police say was stolen from uptown stores.

Hunt was picked up at the Union station when officers became suspicious of him. When they searched him at the police station they reported his pockets yielded the following: 48 candy bars, 28 pairs of men's socks, six pairs of women's stockings, a number of personal belongings such as razor and comb, and one cent.

Chief Marks said an investigation showed the candy had been shoplifted at the Lee & Cady wholesale grocery store on West Center street and that the men's hose were taken from the Kinney shoe store on South Main street Saturday night.

Hunt pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge in municipal court this morning and was fined $26 and costs. He was ordered committed to the county jail when he failed to pay the fine.

TOLEDO WOMAN HERE FOR TREATMENT STRICKEN

Miss Gertrude B. Spencer, 60, of Toledo, died of a heart attack yesterday morning at the Sawyer sanatorium where she had been receiving treatment for some time. The body was sent to Toledo today. The funeral and burial probably will be conducted Tuesday in Toledo.

METHODIST EXECUTIVE AT WALDO SERVICES

Visitors from Delaware were among persons present at yesterday's services of the Waldo Methodist church at which E. Dow Bancroft of Urbana, recently elected associate executive secretary of the general board of lay activities of the new Methodist church, gave the principal address. Mr. Bancroft spoke at 10:30. Laymen from other nearby churches attended. He came to Waldo from Delaware where he was visiting with Rev. J. A. Currier, pastor of the Waldo Methodist church.

Intended for restaurant use, a cabinet has been invented into which beverage glasses are placed to have germs they may carry killed by electric rays.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Be sure your druggist fills your Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.
